Dear Sir,

It may be mentioned at the beginning of this letter that your name has been taken from the list of members of the Electrical Engineering Society as shown in the Society's Journal "Electrotechnics" with the knowledge and approval of the editor, Prof.K.Aston, B.Sc.(Tech.)., M.Sc., M.I.E.E.

It is hoped that you might be glad to assist in the war effort by bringing the proposals in this letter to the notice of any one who might be interested in taking an appointment.

It is considered that your position provides exceptional opportunities for knowing persons sufficiently qualified and who may wish to apply.

The Signal Training Centres(Indian) Jubbulpore, C.P., are in need of qualified instructors for the teaching of Workshop Trades to include Electricians and Instrument Mechanics for Wireless, telephone and telegraph instruments, and Fitters for Motor Transport Vehicles.

These duties are at present being performed by Army personnel whom it is desired to release for fighting units.

It is proposed to replace the Army personnel by civilians and the terms of service for civilians are as follows:-

1. Engagement will be on a purely temporary basis for the duration of the war.

2. Pay will be between £130/- and £250/- per mensem, the actual rates being based on ability not only to instruct in one trade but also the ability to take charge of a shop with a number of subordinate instructors.

An all round knowledge of other trades in addition to a first class knowledge of a particular trade is required.

If the above conditions are not fulfilled the rate of pay will be between £50/- and £150/- per mensem according to capabilities.

3. All service would be in Jubbulpore (or possibly Bangalore).

4. Final selection would be subject to a period of probation.

Any queries and further details required regarding the conditions of service may be made to these Centres.
